

2026 International Organizations and Global Governance (IOGG) (English-taught)

Program Overview

The International Organizations and Global Governance undergraduate program is a four-year Bachelor of Laws degree taught entirely in English. It focuses on the theoretical foundations and practical development of global governance, international organizations, and international relations, equipping students with the skills and knowledge needed to engage with the complexities of the global system.

Mission

The program is committed to cultivating well-rounded individuals who excel in moral, intellectual, physical, aesthetic, and labor development. Its goal is to provide students with a solid theoretical foundation and practical capabilities, enabling them to systematically master the theories and practices of global governance and international organizations, understand international rules and norms, and develop the capacity to analyze and solve complex global issues.

Vision

We aspire to nurture graduates with a global outlook, innovative thinking, professional ethics, and strong social responsibility. Students will be encouraged to become independent critical thinkers and lifelong learners, capable of interdisciplinary collaboration, leadership, and meaningful contribution to global society.

Highlights

- Fully English-Taught: A four-year Bachelor of Laws program conducted entirely in English.
- Comprehensive Training: Integrates theoretical learning with practical skill-building for global governance and international organizations.
